DiscussIT Topic 6: Where is our country headed?

Discuss IT Topic: Over the last week, our country has had growing concerns on immigration bans, border safety, and executive orders that remind us of issues that have been plaguing our country for years. Now that Trump has been elected President, there has been people threatening to blow up the White House, human right protests, and a plethora of other sensitive subject matters that are very compelling to individual groups of people. Why have these issues come up now as we head into a time in which it seems no one is going to be happy with the outcomes? Will this create a split in this country and place citizens against one another when it comes to their views? In your opinion, what other topics are at the forefront of concern? Explain...

Response: Please make sure all grammar, spelling, indentation, and punctuation is correct.

I don't mean to say this in a rude way, but protestors are one of the dumbest people in our country. These people are getting mad because Trump is doing right things! One of the things that Trump did was that he illegalized abortion. Now, in my opinion, abortion is one of the most terrible things you can do to a fetus. It's basically killing a baby that you don't want! Every aspect about this is wrong. I understand how a married couple doesn't want a baby anymore, but that's what adoption centers are for. Abortion is considered as murder, and that's probably why Trump has now made it illegal.

Now, because of Trump's actions, protestors are going CRAZY and putting up signs that say things like, "You can't control my v!" Okay, #1, Trump is not trying to control your v. He's just trying to "make the world a better place" and have an even greater population. And #2, why do you think that simply drawing some text on a board with a handle will change the president's mind? It won't.
